W. H. Smith, cattle buyer of Prescott, is in town today.

W. D. Pruitt, colored, who has been working for W. J. Kingsbury as an all around man, was discharged today by Mrs. W. J. Kingsbury on account of misconduct. Pruitt packed his trunk and had it taken to the depot, as he was going to Phoenix. Mrs. Kingsbury missed some articles of linen, and notified Constable Smith of the matter. The trunk was opened and a pair of blankets, a lot of towels, pillowslips and other things were taken out.

Joel and W. M. Penna will leave in the morning for Pinal for the purpose of rounding up their cattle and taking them over to their other ranch in Devil's canyon. They will be gone about two weeks.

One of the valley's little industries is located east of the Maricopa canal on the Tempe road. It is a dairy and stock ranch, owned and operated by J. J. Collins. Mr. Collins is milking thirty cows at present, but he will soon be milking sixty. The daily output of butter now is thirty pounds and when the milk is obtained from sixty cows the output will be over fifty pounds. To take care of this milk a separator of 760 pounds' capacity per hour is used. A 120-gallon churn takes care of the cream. All the machinery of the factory runs by a one horse power motor. Mr. Collins has no cheese factory in connection to use up the skim milk, but he has a pork factory instead. This year he sold 50 head of hogs which he considers a "pick-up." The 160 acres of his place not only supported the hogs and 60 cows, but 90 head of cattle besides what horses he keeps to run his business with.

GLENDALE NEWS.

The Community Will Soon Be Enlarged by Families From the East.

Glendale, Ariz., Nov. 15.—(Special Correspondence of The Republican.)—When you see a larger crowd than usual in town and your cars are assailed by a babel of shouts projected by fifty or more untamed Arabs, you may know that Exhibition day at the school has just closed. This feature of the school work is one of the many meritorious improvements inaugurated by the present force of teachers. A part of Friday afternoons is devoted to literary and musical exercises rendered by the pupils, and that these are interesting is sufficiently evidenced by the enthusiasm of the children and the commendation of the visitors.

F. M. Mills of Anywhere, in Kansas, stopped off at Ash Fork and paid a flying visit Thursday night to his partner, Jerry Sullivan, of Anywhere, in Arizona. The firm of Sullivan & Mills is probably the largest dealer in cattle in the territory. They operate extensively in several states and their credit is unquestioned in a dozen cities. Glendale is fortunate in having been chosen as one of their headquarters.

Mr. Cotton, a friend of Mr. H. W. Hamilton, arrived Wednesday from Marinette, Wis., and will probably take up his permanent residence here. He has leased a quarter section south-west of Mount Baugh's place and will plant a crop this fall.

Humphreys rushed into the scribe's sanctum the other day, his breast heaving with undelivered tidings and his face illuminated with the joy of one who has just escaped some dire peril, and gasped, "At last the suspense is over. I've just completed that bond."

Thomas Whitfield, secretary of the Glendale Fruit company, arrived here Monday morning from Chicago, and will remain for some time investigating the affairs of the company at this point.

Press Hill was in a violent state of agitation bordering on hysteria, early in the week, induced by the gratuitous and mendacious information that some Tempe parties proposed to start a soap factory on some low lying tract of land. We regret that the report is false, for such an enterprise in connection with the Sonora town that is haunting the residents of the east side, an asylum for tuneless cats, offers a rich and tempting field for philanthropy and thrift.

C. R. Bates shipped a car of hogs to Kirkland on Tuesday.

John Morrow, who is in charge of Rancho del Higo, during the absence of E. E. Jack, claims that coyotes are getting away with some of his hogs. Haven't been reading any of Kipling's jungle stories, have you, John?

From letters received by different parties here we learn that about fourteen families are expected to arrive from points in Missouri, Iowa, Kansas and Minnesota, within a few weeks. Most of these families will settle in the vicinity, and this reminds us that there is room for several more houses in Glendale. At present there is not a rentable house in town and newcomers who might settle here if
